Thinking outside the box

SEARCHING for the rare Adonis Blue butterfly was just one of the exciting activities for our Year 4 pupils on their field trip to the Box Hill National Trust centre this week.

It was a glorious hot and sunny day and the activities were both fun and educational. After visiting the 'bug hotel' they returned to school to find that two of the chrysalides they have been nurturing had hatched and were now small Painted Lady butterflies!

- ◆ Help on a stall during the evening, even for part of the evening.
- ◆ Bake a cake - please bring your cakes for the cake stall to school on Thursday and Friday.
- ◆ Van drivers - help us with moving tables.
