

A story worth telling

WE have been very lucky in school in the last few weeks. There have been visits from Authors and Storytellers and two big eggs arriving in the playground.

This week was no different as we were visited by Bob Hartman who is an Author and Storyteller of Bible stories.

The school hall certainly came to life with his unique way of telling stories through song, lots of acting and joining in. In fact ALL the children joined in from Reception to Year 6 and so did the staff.

There were lots of actions to learn and noises to make. The singing and storytelling was a very clever way of getting the children to think about what special qualities they have and reminded us that we are all special in our own unique way and that everybody is welcome in God's world. It certainly was a very funny and entertaining day!

Fully kitted out

PE lessons happen every week in school and are part of the National Curriculum. It is essential that all children have their PE kit in school with them as they are all required to participate in this lesson and should be comfortable when doing so. Could we also please remind you that children are not permitted to wear cosmetics to school. This includes nail polish and false nails. Children with long hair should wear it tied back and 'fashion cuts' ie extreme hair cuts and shaved in lines are not allowed. Earrings should be kept to small studs. For further clarification on uniform standards please see your Year Book or visit our website: www.ashford-primary.surrey.sch.uk.

The chicken or the egg (s)?

WE know now that it definitely was not chicken eggs that appeared in our school a few weeks ago. The letter we received this week from Professor Gruber and the Museum of Antiquity suggests that it was an animal that has been extinct for many years. The museum is unable to give us any more information than that so we may never know? Only time will tell.
