

Space, the final frontier

WHAT was that that landed in the school hall this week? It could have been a spaceship but no; it was the Mobile Planetarium Space Dome visiting Year 5 children as part of their theme, Space, the final frontier. There were no aliens in the dome but they did find out how the moon, sun and earth interact with each other, why the moon looks different at different times of the month and why we have seasons. In the darkness of the dome they saw the millions of stars and learnt about the different constellations.

Happy snappers

WE were delighted with the standard of the photos that were entered into this years photography competition. We are pleased to announce the photographers winning 1st prize in each category were: A—Landscape, Willow H Llamas (Pictured), B—Portrait, Thomas P Rhinos, C—Life in Britain, George BR Pandas, D—Good deeds, Aleena A Panthers, and E—Abstract, Daisy Llamas. Congratulations and well done to all the entrants. See all the photos on the website soon.

Wait a minute Mr Postman!

CHRISTMAS is coming! As we enter December, the cards will be coming thick and fast too. As usual the school post box will be in the foyer for children to post their Christmas cards for their friends and teachers from next Monday.

Keeping warm this winter

THERE have already been a few chilly days as we head towards winter. Keep your children warm by ensuring that they bring a coat to school. Children are outside to play twice a day. Scarves, hats and gloves are also a good idea. Don't forget to mark all items of clothing clearly with your child's name.

Aiming for the number 1 spot

MOVING forward in our quest to improve school attendance we are excited to tell you that the class with the highest attendance next week will be rewarded with a special prize. If your class reaches the top spot then they will have their very own Mufti Day the following week. Look out for weekly attendance updates on the board at the gate on Fridays.

Weekly Reflection

A person should never be ashamed to admit that they have been in the wrong. All it says is that they are wiser today than yesterday.
