

WHERE IS ROBBIE TODAY?

Use the clues in these pieces of writing to work out where Robbie is. Tick one box under each speech bubble.

I was having lots of fun until the breeze blew sand onto my sandwiches.

The air was filled with the sound of birds and the crunch of dry leaves under my feet.

My nose was itching terribly, but I didn't dare take off my thick, furry gloves.

I've never been so excited. I could see the tiny moon and how blue the Earth was.

Wherever I looked, there was no sign of land – just miles and miles of water.
