The dead and Valhalla

- A person was buried or cremated (burned) with some of their belongings, to take into the next world. Some Viking chiefs were given ship-burials with treasure, weapons, and favourite dogs and horses buried with them.
- Vikings believed that a warrior killed in battle went to Valhalla, a great hall where dead heroes feasted at long tables. Odin sent his warrior-maidens, the Valkyries, riding through the skies to bring dead warriors to Valhalla.

What is the difference between a Viking burial and a Christian burial?

- We know much more about earlier Vikings than later ones because the Vikings eventually became Christians.
- Why did this make it difficult to find out more about the Vikings?

The Vikings and Christianity

- The Viking's old pagan customs died out after Vikings became Christians.
- People in Britain had been Christians long before Vikings settled here in the 900s.
- Soon most Vikings too became Christians.
- Viking leaders founded churches and put up painted stone crosses.
- However, some Vikings continued to follow their old religion at the same time.

Do you think it was easy for the Vikings to become Christians? Why?

The Vikings were Pagans

Odin

Odin was the ruler of the gods, and the god of magic, poetry and war.

The name Wednesday comes from 'Odin's day'

Odin had two ravens called Memory and Thought who flew around the world every morning to find out everything that was happening

Odin gave up his eye in order to gain more knowledge.

How do you think these birds helped Odin know everything?

Thor – God of Thunder

Son of Odin

Red-headed Thor ruled the skies, storms and thunder. He had iron gloves, a magic belt and a hammer.

Thursday originally meant “Thor’s day”

Thor was very popular with the Vikings, they often wore his hammer pendant around his neck

Why do you think the Vikings wore Thor's hammer pendant?
